

VEHICLE CRUISED ON FIRE SIFED

Agulla Company Gains in Battle
Over 3,000,000 Pesos in Back Taxes

Manito City, Oct. 15.—Officials of the State of Vera Cruz have issued an embargo they placed on the properties of the Agulla Oil Company last Saturday, following legal proceedings brought by the firm, a British corporation. The embargo was ordered as a security for back taxes totaling $3,000,000 pesos, which, it was alleged, had not been paid.

Further relief against adverse action by the state authorities of Vera Cruz apparently was secured by Agulla Company, when it secured a writ from the Supreme Court of Mexico for a lower tribunal relative to the validity of certain decrees issued by Vera Cruz officials. Some of these decrees dated as far back as 1912.

It was said here the action of the Supreme Court without doubt cleared the way for other decrees involving constitutional points involving back taxes, unfulfilled contracts and disputed jurisdiction.

The Supreme Court voted 7 to 3 in favoring the finding of the lower court. A prominent oil man declared that the Supreme Court does not consider that the decision of May, 1917, established the validity or legality of alleged decrees of expropriation which have been made. The court appears to uphold the contract entered into by the Agulla Company and the State of Vera Cruz in 1912.

It was upon this contract that the Agulla Company based its claim for exemption from certain State taxes which the Vera Cruz officials had imposed.

The Supreme Court probably next week will take up the discussion of the contract. The contract, however, is valid, and must be fulfilled by the State of Vera Cruz despite the attempt of the State officials to nullify it.

PRISONER SHOT AFTER BEAT- ING OFFICER

Wounded in Leg During Street
Riot in Roxbury; Three
Are Arrested

John J. Hurley, 36, 61 Magellan street, Roxbury, is on the danger list at the City Hospital with a bullet in his left leg.

He was shot by Patrolman Rudolph L. Trent, colored, at George and Magazine streets, after the patrolman had been beaten by his inmate and his child wrestled from him by a crowd who resented the patrolman's arrest of Hurley.

Three young men were arrested charged with participating in the attack upon Patrolman Trent. They are: Martin Sullivan, twenty years old, No. 3 Brookfield street; John J. Halliday, twenty-three years old, No. 10 Parker Hill terrace; and Edward W. Weston, twenty-three years old, No. 18 Chatham street, all of Roxbury.

John J. Hurley, Municipal Court, before Judge Hagan, all pleaded not guilty, and at the City Hospital. The charges were continued until October 21 and the next day 199 such indictments were charged with assault and battery on a peace officer.

When Hurley came out of the hospital he will be charged probably with using private language and resisting arrest.

Trent, who is considered an efficient officer by the better element in the district, requested that he and his wife not be disturbed the following day. Police officers were sent with a string of oaths and called him.

Hurley was then placed under arrest, broke away, and ran to George and Magazine streets, where he was overtaken by the officer. Hurley put up a desperate struggle, and was shot by the officer and a crowd which quickly gathered during the excitement.

Trent used his club on Hurley, when a moment later was wrestled from him by the crowd and given to the officer. Trent was not hurt and bleeding, as was Hurley. His clothes were practically in tatters. The officer had been beaten to his knees and was losing consciousness when he pulled his gun from his belt. The shot arrested Hurley's flight.

Arrival of the police officers from the Dudley street station in response to a riot call, which saved Trent from death, according to other officers.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS OF GREATER BOSTON Choate-Crosby Wedding at Beverly Farms Today

By BETTY ALDEN.

The wedding of Katherine Scholey Crosby and Robert Burnett Choate is decidedly the event of the day so far as Boston's smart set is concerned.

Like many another bride, Miss Crosby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Van R. Crosby of Beacon street and the North Shore, has chosen St. John's Episcopal Church in Beverly farms as the house of worship where she will promise "to love, honor and obey" her future husband. The groom, a graduate of Harvard, class of '20, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Choate of Southbury.

A wedding reception at the Crosby summer home, "Apple Trees," in West Manchester, will follow the ceremony. Tomorrow or leaves the North Shore at 11:30 to transport the guests to the reception, which will be held at the North Shore manse.

Miss Pierpont Morgan, an aunt of the bride, is coming on from New York for the wedding, to which the most representative of Boston's first families have been invited.

It was but a short time ago that Katherine and her mother returned from a trip abroad, and I hear that the bride's trousseau—prepared in the smartest shop of gay Paris—is exquisite, to say the least.

Miss Crosby is a member of the Vincent Club and the 11th regiment. Some of her sister's bridesmaids are Misses Margaret, Elizabeth, Cora, Polly, Frances, Alice, and Lena. The bridesmaids are: Misses Margaret, Louise, and Elizabeth. The bridesmaids are: Misses Margaret, Louise, and Elizabeth.

Eleven bears, of sporting fame, was present at the professional photographer's gallery given by the bride's father, Mr. Choate, at the Wilbur so that Elsie Barrington might see her brother, Lionel Barrington, in his play.

Miss Choate, who was of the few non-professionals present at the performance, was the daughter of Elsie Barrington herself.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince, Jr. (Elizabeth Harding), of "Pinecroft," Fitch's Crossing, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, who is to be named Frederick H. Prince, 2d. At present the young couple are at the Hotel Plaza, New York city.

The little newcomer is the grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince, also of "Pinecroft," and parents of the late Norman Prince, the noted aviator who perished in the crash of his plane at the end of the war.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sturges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sturges, have just left the city for New York. Miss Sturges, who for several years has been the show of the Vincent Club of which she herself is a member, plans to spend the winter in Philadelphia for a brief stay with her aunt, Miss Sturges.

Mr. Richard C. Dixey of Beacon street has as guests at her country home, "Langwilde," in Lenox, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sturges, and her daughter, Miss Dixey, of No. 35 Beacon street.

Campaigns and "drives" of all kinds are very much in the air. Three colleges, Harvard, Radcliffe and Vassar, are all working hard to swell their endowment funds.

Among the society people who are actively engaged in Vassar College's drive for three million dollars is Mrs. Francis Dawsey Everett of Milton and Miss Katherine Vassar of Chestnut Hill.

Miss Rosemond Day, daughter of Mr. Clarence Houghton Day of Brookline, has just been elected for 1921-22 membership by the Radcliffe Music Club, membership bids were made on excellence in vocal or instrumental music.

PAID THAT INCOME TAX TO STATE? Last Day Is Here!

Have you paid your State income tax? If not, it is income tax if you make it so. It is income tax if you make it so. It is income tax if you make it so.

Persons who fail to make their payments today will be subject to penalties. The State income tax is income tax if you make it so. It is income tax if you make it so. It is income tax if you make it so.

As in previous years, checks or cash mailed before midnight tonight and bearing the October 15 postmark will be accepted as within the limit.

When he arrived, Anderson found that he was at Malden street and the Fall River. He was at Malden street and the Fall River. He was at Malden street and the Fall River.

Anderson called the police and his bag was recovered on a side street near where he had seen another automobile suddenly start up and disappear.

Several unbanked and some clothing were recovered. The bag containing $40 was still in the car.

Guinea Dupraw, Charleston, S.C., emerged today from the Charleston Jail with much more practical knowledge concerning the city than he had when he entered.

The "upward" had for some time refused to pay a $50 poll tax. He had been refused to pay a $50 poll tax. He had been refused to pay a $50 poll tax.

After two hours in the dungeon, Dupraw decided to pay the tax. But when he was presented by the warden, he was told that the tax was $100.

Dupraw paid the tax and penalty. He was released from the jail. He was released from the jail. He was released from the jail.

LEADERS FIGHT SUCCESS OF ARMS PARLEY TO CUT TAXES ON INCOMES

Hopes for Results, but Are Not Confident Nations Will Take Action

Washington, Oct. 15.—A hope that the international conference here next month will rid the world of the evils of competitive armament, rather than a conviction that it will prevent among a majority of people, according to a symposium of views, obtained by the International News Service today.

Few dared to predict flatly that the conference would be a success or a failure, but without exception those whose views were sought voiced a hope that it would accomplish lasting good.

Senator William C. Borah, Republican, Idaho—"Public sentiment is well gauged and directed, is an indispensable element in the success of the conference. If the people of the respective nations should cease to be active and earnest and insistent, the conference will accomplish little, if anything."

Representative Thomas S. Butler, Republican, Pennsylvania—"The success of the House Naval Affairs Committee—"It will be a success. There will be a cessation of the armament race, a limitation placed on future building."

Senator Kitson Johnson, Republican, California—"One thing makes possible real accomplishment and that is the enlightening of the public opinion of the world. There is but one way in which world public opinion can operate and that is by publicity. Secret diplomacy will control secret operations. But the secret and the cynical. Rulers will win in the dark because it is the only way."

LOOKS FOR FAILURE.

Representative William A. Caidwell, Democrat, Arkansas—"Don't expect anything to come out of the armament conference. Now can we expect anything to come out of it? No. President Harding is warning the people constantly not to expect too much out of it."

John M. Turbell of New York, member of the National Committee for the Conference—"If the Pacific problem is settled, limitation of armament for complete disarmament will follow logically. The conference should set up a permanent agency to prevent war."

Senator P. M. Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina—"It will end in failure. If any attempt is made to lay down a fixed principle for limitation of armament or to effect a substantial reduction of armament, the United States, Great Britain and Japan require more naval armament than others for self protection alone. This English are dependent, for instance, upon the freedom of the seas for their food, for their very existence."

HARDY DOESN'T KNOW.

Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri—"I don't know what will happen at the conference."

Senator Miles Poindexter, Republican, of Washington, ranking member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee—"The conference will do at least. It will find out whether Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States. It will also find out Japan's minimum demand in the Pacific."

Senator Reed Smoot, Republican, of Utah—"I hope and trust that all that President Harding anticipates for the conference will come out of it."

George Fleming Moore, Supreme Commander of the United States Navy—"The result of the conference will be the understanding of America by the peoples of the world. Generosity and selfishness are the two most demoralizing factors in the world."

Senator Edwin L. Dutton, Republican, of Wisconsin—"I do not anticipate any immediate results upon limitation of armament, but it will be a little short of an international event. It is an agreement is not reached on limitation of naval armament."

TALK OF THE TOWN!
THERE ARE many reasons which give authority to the bid for everlasting fame made on behalf of this photograph. First of all, the Dan novel and the memoirs of D'Artagnan embody the greatest work of romantic material ever uncovered. Only the imagination Dumas could devise the amazing experiences participated in those four inseparable comrades, D'Artagnan and the Three Musketeers, Athos, Porthos and Aramis. And the part of the dast D'Artagnan is made to order for the indomitable "Doug."

McGRAW'S SIGNAL SYSTEM STRANGEST FEATURE IN WORLD'S SERIES

By BABE RUTH.

New York, Oct. 15. Having in the outfield I studied every Giant batter standing at the home plate I faced their pitcher, sitting on the bench I experienced the attitude of the Yankee club as a whole, and working in the coaches' box at third base I observed the Giant defense under fire.

So unaccountably, I witnessed these eight games of the World Series from more angles than of the thirty thousand who daily flock into the big stadium and the impressions, obtained from such completely different viewpoints, should interest baseball fans.

My remarks are open to argument and may be fairly challenged by many fans and experts. Any criticism made with the idea of fair play to all concerned and the realization that the Yankees and myself personally have many faults that need correction.

The strangest thing to me in the entire series was the signal work of Manager McGraw. The big surprise was the persistence of John McGraw, until recently a mediocre player, to be so persistent in the use of his signal system.

The pitcher who bothered the Yankees most was a dark horse, a suddenly emerged, fast ball pitcher, Joe Harris. The strategy of the series was a not a choice between McGraw and Harris.

A ball club can have but one direction lead and from that signal in the field. But to see one by one after another cranks his neck before and after each pitched ball, to get his instructions from the manager of the bench, would seem to rob the natural biter of his greatest value.

In a crisis, where the judgment and strategy of a veteran executive is required, the individual player should, by all means, look to the manager, but the manager should not look to the player.

It had been pointed out that the Yankees were not looking with the lead word, but certainly this was not the case. The Yankees were not looking with the lead word, but certainly this was not the case.

The sign-throwing tactic of John McGraw at bat and in the field were clearly the outstanding feature of the series. With all our respect to John McGraw, it is not a surprise that McGraw is not a signed major league player.

HIGH DUFFY IS RED SOX MANAGER FOR NEXT TWO SEASONS

High Duffy has been signed as manager for the Red Sox for 1923 and 1924. Duffy's good work as pilot during the season closed in record and rewarded by the Boston American League Baseball Club.

Duffy will strengthen his club, part of the glory that comes to a man who steers in the outfield, it he expects to be in the fight next season, and has made deals on for two new players for the other work.

Duffy will winter as usual in Boston. If he can get a few good pitchers and two good outfielders he will be in the field for new players.

SOMERVILLE AND NEWTON WILL HAVE HOT GAME

By FRED C. LANE.

Now to brief the action in scheduled suburban League games today. It will be played at Dilboy Field.

Somerville, regardless of its last start, is in a position to sweep matters for the defeat placed on it last season by the Newton team. The loss of Bob Garrity by graduation has been a severe blow to the Newton team.
